Introducing Nurture Habitats

After years of providing specialist natural habitat management (alongside our ecological consultancy) we have formalised our land management business area.

Meet 'Nurture Habitats'

Our team of highly skilled land workers and craftspeople increase the wildlife value of land/sites by creating optimal habitats for Jersey's wildlife.

Applying to Planning?

Don't wait for projects to start before contacting us for an initial, no obligation, discussion.

The earlier we are aware of ecological or environmental requirements, the more efficiently we can help.

Ecological Surveys

We can undertake an initial assessment of your property/land at any time of the year. However, should further surveys be required, these are seasonally restricted due to hibernation or inactivity periods.

The window for further surveys opens in April, so discuss your requirements with us soon!

Bats and Planning

The presence of bats doesn't need to stop your project. Bats and their roosts are protected by law, and industry guidelines determine how best we can mitigate for any present on your site during and after your project.

We are here to help you progress your project, let us flip your perspective on bats!

Nurture Turns 10!

It all started with a loan for a chainsaw and laptop... and a big dream! Thousands of ecological surveys and sleeper steps later, the company is now led by Directors and Owners Paul and Jon.

"Thank you to everyone who has worked for us and with us in our first 10 years. Our team (and colleagues in the environment industry) continue to work so hard to help preserve and protect Jersey's wildlife, which is of more importance now than ever.

We are continuing to grow and adapt as our industry requires us to... so look out for more exciting updates about the company coming soon!"
